

Island living

Villa Evelina is located on Corfu's picturesque north-east coast, where olive trees and cypresses dot the rocky, sun-kissed slopes that stretch down towards the Ionian Sea. The semi-detached, three-bedroom villa is part of the Corfu Country Club, a cluster of 20 properties that share a club house and swimming pool. Currently for sale; for enquiries, telephone 07885 410574 or email mileseff@btinternet.com

Sweet escape

Such is the beauty of St Lucia that it's been dubbed the 'Helen of the West Indies', and these beachfront residences are located within the spectacular environs of a UNESCO World Heritage Site. The Beachfront Collection at Sugar Beach comprises five large luxury properties, built within Sugar Beach's 180-acre, five-star resort. Open plan in design, they make the most of the spectacular views of the jagged peaks of the Pitons and the shimmering blue ocean. Prices range from US$8.25 million to US$15 million. A FINE PROSPECT

Overlooking the Thames and the rolling greenery of Richmond Park, the historic Star and Garter on Richmond Hill was formerly one of England's finest hotels. Now, the Grade II-listed building has been converted into private residences. It includes the East Wing, a self-contained dwelling with six bedrooms, its own private lobby and a roof terrace from which to admire the bucolic landscape, immortalised by artists from Turner to Reynolds. £11.25 million.

New Georgian

Set on one of Notting Hill's most charming, tree-lined roads and a stone's throw from Hyde Park, Leverton House on Ossington Street has a contemporary interior concealed behind its Georgian façade. The clever design means that every room of the five-storey, 3,870-square-foot building is flooded with natural light, and it comes fully furnished with specially commissioned furniture and joinery from British craftsmen. £9.75 million.
